Pad printing machine with base frame

Useful shelf for tools and storage space

The base frame can be universally used for the pad printing machines SEALED INK CUP and HERMETIC, offering a sturdy and safe stand during the printing process.

Thanks to the integrated cable routing, cables and hoses can properly and orderly be laid. Even the footswitch cable is placed in this safe space, contributing safety at work.

A large storage space in the base frame offers enough place for several accessories and consumables. The storage shelf in the front is very useful for tools.

An angle table can optionally be mounted at the frame, enabling printing of different product sizes. In addition, cross slide or profile plates can also be installed, so that the pad printing machine can be used for multiple purposes.

Options:

- Angle table (Item No. 25 68 92)
- Cross slide
- Profile plate
